THE DESERT GARDEN FOR ALL SEASONS

Moorten's Desert Botanical Garden in Palm Springs, California, established in 1938, internationally famous as an arboretum professionally designed in geographical form of native habitats displaying several thousand varieties of desert plants from all parts of the world.

The areas are designated and the plants are labeled for identification. There are many in bloom throughout the different seasons of the year. It is also a sanctuary for many birds and other pleasant wildlife.

This historical landmark, located on the original Indian trail to Palm Canyon, is set in a natural amphitheater with the back-slip of the San Jacinto Mountain range. The tree shaded nature trails welcome visitors of all ages to enjoy a true show place of an oasis.

This exhibit garden of perpetual pagentry features the World's first "Cactusarium" which is a concentrated area enclosed for special viewing of some of the most rare and rare cacti from North, Central and South America along with colorful succulents from many other countries.

It's often called a haven of environmental tranquility right within this renowned city. This private enterprise is headquarters for continuing research and does in the scientific value, as well as the appreciation of these fascinating and beautiful plants.

COLLECTED PLANTS IN SHOWS

THERE HAS BEEN SOME CONFUSION CONCERNING THE CSSA (CACTUS & SUCULENT SOCIETY OF AMERICA, INC.) RULE (VOTED BY THE FIVE MEMBERS) AGAINST FIELD COLLECTED PLANTS BEING SHOWN COMPETITIVELY IN CSSA SHOWS. FIRST, THIS FOR CSSA SHOWS, AND THE SHOWS OF AFFILIATED ORGANIZATIONS. THESE ORGANIZATIONS ARE FREE TO MAKE THEIR OWN RULES. SECOND, THESE COLLECTED PLANTS ARE NOT BANNED FROM THE SHOW: THEY ARE BANNED FROM COMPETITION. THOSE WHO FEEL THAT PUBLIC EDUCATION SUFFERS BY THE ABSENCE OF THESE NATURAL, FIELD COLLECTED PLANTS ARE URGED TO BRING THEM TO BE SHOWN NON-COMPETITIVELY.

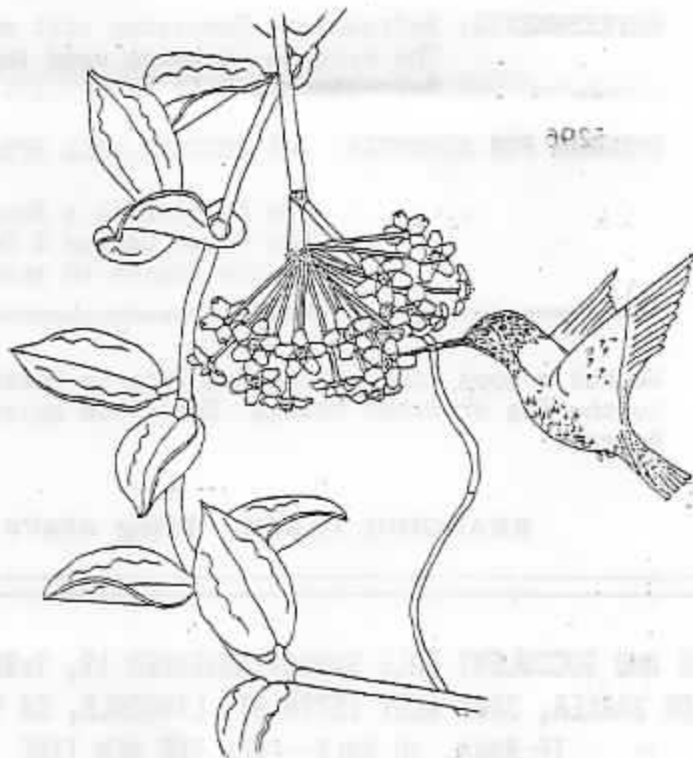

SHOULD CSSA HAVE SUCH A RULE WHEN THE PLANTS IN QUESTION ARE LEGALLY COLLECTED AND MANY BEFORE THERE WAS A CITES? THIS RULE DEMONSTRATES TO THE POWERS THAT BE THAT CSSA IS SERIOUS IN ITS CONCERN FOR THE FATE OF THESE PLANTS IN THEIR NATURAL HABITAT. IF THE PEOPLE IN THE U.S. FISH & WILDLIFE SERVICE AND THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS ARE CONVINCED WE DO NOT, THEY ARE MORE LIKELY TO LISTEN TO CSSA AND MAKE SOME PROVISION FOR THE COLLECTION OF SEED, PERHAPS SOME STATUTORY STARTS, BY AUTHORIZED PERSONS IN THE SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITY AND BOTANIC GARDENS TO MAKE IT POSSIBLE FOR THESE PLANTS TO BE STUDIED AND TO BECOME AVAILABLE TO THE HOBBYIST PLANT PROPAGATED BY MAN, THUS RELIEVING THE PRESSURE ON PLANTS IN HABITAT. IN SOME CASES, IT IS POSSIBLE TO ENRICH THE HABITAT WITH PLANTS PROPAGATED BY MAN.

SINCE THIS RULE WAS ADOPTED, CSSA REPRESENTATIVES HAVE BEEN GIVEN AN EAR IN WASHINGTON, D.C., AND WE WERE GIVEN "SERVER" STATUS AT THE LAST INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION ON ENDANGERED SPECIES IN (HELD IN CANADA). THAT IS A BEGINNING.

IT IS EVIDENCE THAT THE STRATEGY DOES HAVE VALIDITY. SOMETIMES WE MUST MAKE SACRIFICES TO ACCOMPLISH WORTHWHILE THINGS, AND THIS IS ONE OF THOSE THINGS.
